The Serengeti National Park and Ngorongoro Conservation Area have been granted World Heritage Status, showing their dedication to their wildlife. The south of Tanzania is the hidden gem of this magnificent country. A visit to the Selous Game Reserve is almost a "must" if you want to travel to the Southern Circuit. Udzungwa has some fantastic hiking trails through the mountain ranges and Ruaha is regarded as one of the most beautiful parts of the country. The parks in the Western Circuit are Mahale Mountains, Gombe Stream National Park and Katavi National Park. It is here that one can see chimpanzees.

Mount Kilimanjaro is the highest mountain in Africa standing at 19,043 ft and the world highest freestanding mountain. Just south of the Equator rising from the savannah plains, the summit always enigmatically covered in snow, Mt. Kilimanjaro is a must for mountaineers, trekkers and adventure lovers both amateur and professionals. A trip to this 'Roof of Africa' is worth taking.

Mount Meru is one of Africa's most beautiful volcanoes, and it is the second highest mountain in Tanzania at 14,979ft, and the fifth highest in Africa. This prime location gives walkers the opportunity to spot some birds and wildlife that inhabit the area.

FISHING AND DIVING

Zanzibar and Pemba island are the perfect place to explore the Indian Ocean's marine life. The island offers magnificent deep sea diving ground. Experienced divers have an opportunity to explore pristine coral structures with abundant marine life and the relatively frigid unspoiled waters of the Indian ocean.

The fresh water lakes and the coast of Tanzania are teeming with marine life, providing abundant opportunities for those who love to fish.
